NEW YORK, Sept. 24.-At the immediate opening the stock market showed symptoms of weakness and there were declines on nearly everything on the list. Large lots of stock came out and for a ime it looked as if the down turn would be accelerated by the increased offerings. The manner in which the stock was absorbed did not please the bears, and they made an attempt to cover, only to find that there was backbone to the list and sharp recoveries on buying.

The situation is not materially changed from what it was last week. Brokers are without their usual line of gossip today because of the wire damage done today because of the wire damage done by the storm yesterday, but private dispatches have a rather encouraging tone, the bear sentiment being inspired by the probability of Standard Oil developments and the belief that President Roosevelt will throw some hot shot into the street on the occasion of his coming outing.

That the market has been greatly relieved by the enormous liquidation during down of stocks into stronger hands is perfectly evidenced by the better tone generally and the manner in which the market took the liberal offerings this morning.

Recoveries, Some Gains.

STOCKS, BONDS, MONEY, AND GRAIN WOMAN'S SANITY

History of Mrs. Morrow.

The history of Mrs. Morrow, who despite her imprisonment in St. Elizabeth's, is now alleged to be perfectly sane, deals with the story of a brilliant woman who, when her son was committed to St. Elizabeth's as hopelessly insane, so brooded over the tragedy that, temporarily at least, she was considered as a fitting subject for treatment at the hands of the alienists.

Mrs. Morrow was for years a clerk in the Navy Department, where she was known for her brilliant and valuable work. Outside the department she was welcomed in the city's best society because of her wit and exceptional conversational abilities. She owned her home in this city and apparently there was nothing lacking to make her life a happy one.

Suddedniy, without the slightest warn.

was nothing lacking to taske her life a happy one.

Suddenly, without the slightest warning, came the greatest blow she had ever received. Her son was declared hopelessly insane, and was committed to St. Elizabeth's. Mrs. Morrow was left in her big home to brood alone over her bereavement. Except herself, there were only her servants in the house. Her brother was in Chicago, where he is now prominent.

Elizabeth's where her son had preceded her.

But if Mr. Ralston succeeds in having her liberated as he is confident he will do, she will come into the world again with her grief hanging over her. All hough, according to her relatives and attorney a high official of the Government Hospital for the Insane has declared her sane it is feared that her son will never recover.

Absence of Investigators

The clerk of the city school board yesterday issued fifty permits to children to attend the public schools. Eight of these were to white boys, seven to white girls fifteen to colored boys, and twenty to colored girls.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Rebecca Courtney Marshall, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jacquelin A. Marshall, to Dr. Thomas B. Cochran. The marriage will take place next month.

Absence of Investigators Delays Asylum Inquiry

The investigation of the conditions a he Washington Asylum Hospital will not begin until next week, according to a statement given out today by John Joy Edson, chairman of the Board of Charities, the body which was asked by Commissioner Macfarland to do the investigating. The reason given for the delay is that three of the five members of the board are out of the city, and that two of the members cannot act without at least one more.

Mr. Edson said he would probably call a meeting of the board the early part of next week.
